Tiny Talentsby Virginia HeffernanOn the internet's amazing how-to sites, I study bar tricks. I need to learn, once and for all, how to do CPR, but all I really want to know is how to mix a Singapore Sling, palm a short and tongue-knot stem of a maraschino cherry. The best thing about how-to sites like Howcast, eHow, WonderHowTo, Instructables, SuTree, VideoJug and ExpertVillage - large collections of videos offering instruction in Chinese eating etiquette and surviving zombie attacks, plating fettuccine Alfredo and connecting spins in freestyle kayaking - are that they revive a lost era of two-bit skills when Cross pens swirled around thumbs, Zippos burst in and out of flames and someone was forever trying to show you How. More news and press about Instructables here. Attention story lovers: If you are endlessly fascinated by the past, then our sister publication All About History is the perfect magazine for you. Below you can scroll through an entire issue of the magazine for free! Available in digital as well as good old-fashioned printing, every issue of All About History takes you on a journey through the centuries, from mysteries of the ancient world, to Tudor court scandals, to heroic World War II stories. Subscribe to All About History today and you can save up to 45% on a digital subscription – there's never been a better time to begin your own education about the wonders of the past. Take a look at your free problem below to find out more! Inspiring, shocking, moving, but always fascinating, history has the power to teach us who we are and to help us make sense of an ever-changing world. The All About History team is dedicated to sharing an alternative to textbook-style academic learning and showing you a side of the past that you haven't taught in the classroom. With writing from expert historians around the world, each number is also filled with eye-opening illustrations and engaging storytelling to bring our incredible story to life. Whether we're winding down before bed, reading the news while eating breakfast, or lounging on the couch for a few hours, our phones have become our standard go-to for all things news and entertainment. But remember those days when we were happy to get a shiny new magazine in the mail? If you feel you need a digital detox, try subscribing to a magazine or two and swap some of your digital reading time to read a physical paper. Print media is far from dead. If anything, it has only gotten better and more niche. So whether you love to cook, read up on the latest hotel openings, or are looking for thoughtful journalism on a range of issues, we've got you covered. Here are some of the best magazine subscriptions you should order today. Departures Magazine for American Express Cardholders $0 Shop If you already liked Departures, you're about to enjoy it a lot more. The travel, fashion and art magazine, available to American Express cardholders, has just rebranded under the newly appointed editor-in-chief Jeffries Blackerby. Better yet, it's free for all cardholders! Cereal Magazine Per Issue $124 $99 Shop Based in the UK, Korn is a travel and lifestyle journal that evokes strong feelings of wanderlust with its thoughtful pieces and impeccable travel guides. Don't be afraid if you find yourself booking a plane ticket after reading this quarterly publication cover for cover. Surface Magazine Annual Subscription $60 Shop Surface is a smart, thoughtful magazine about all global modern design, architecture and fashion. But the magazine's travel content really stands out. Expect to learn all about the world's best designed hotels and restaurants so you can book your trip to new unknown destinations before everyone else. The New Yorker Magazine Annual Subscription $100 $50 Shop Subscribed to The New Yorker is almost a rite of passage for Manhattanites. The magazine, founded in 1925, focuses on reportage, commentary, criticism, essays, fiction, satire, cartoons and poetry. While we love most sections, the magazine's satire is really second to none. Kinfolk Magazine Annual Subscription $75 Shop If you want a slower life, quality design, and a more creative outlet, Kinfolk is for you. Delving into home, work, style and culture, Kinfolk promotes a better quality of life and connects a community of creative professionals from London to Tokyo. The Atlantic Magazine Annual $60 Shop If there is a magazine we consistently turn to for too journalism on current affairs, it is The Atlantic. Founded in 1857, it touches on literary and cultural commentary, including modern political affairs. Rose & Ivy Journal Per Issue $18 Shop At the intersection of luxury fashion, beauty, design, food and travel, you'll find Rose & Ivy, newcomer to the printed journal scene (and now on its ninth edition). Expect thoughtful pieces and amazing photography in this highly stylized magazine. Vanity Fair Magazine Annual Subscription $15 Shop Bridging popular culture, high fashion, and current affairs, Vanity Fair has been a staple publication of American households for generations-and for good reason. You will be hard pressed to find other publications that marry fashion and thoughtful journalism the way this magazine does. Porter Magazine Per Issue $12 Shop We love Net-a-Porter, but if it's even possible, we love its print publication, Porter magazine, even more. In a few short years, the online luxury retailer has been doing a stellar job of building a truly high-end fashion magazine with a devoted following. Rum Magazine 6-month subscription $87 Shop Fans of Scandinavian design will be watching over this Danish magazine that consistently has the most amazing minimal European interiors we have ever seen. If you want to know what's happening on the European design scene, Rum is the subscription you need. Architectural Digest Magazine Annual Subscription $24 Shop Invented design bible by design professionals, Architectural Digest is an endless source of inspiration and resource for the design industry and design aficionados alike. Lower down your sofa and admire this month's home tours - they're always worth it. Bon Appétit Magazine Annual Subscription $15 $10 Shop If you are always on the hunt for innovative recipes presented in a dynamic way, look no further than Bon Appétit. The magazine's food and restaurant content never cease to amaze us. If you only subscribe to a food magazine, this should be it.
